Project

Press advertising

Description

Taylor Walton Solicitors appointed Brandgraphica to develop a series of press advertisements to address each of their specialist areas of expertise. The adverts follow a thought provoking and imaginative use of imagery to help the brand stand out in directory situations. All adverts are created in several sizes and formats to optimise media budgets. The 'Wellington' advert has received complimentary comments from every quarter. The adverts are seen very much as a tactical extension of the firm's identity.
